

DR. DAN POTTER

Director, Houston Population Research Center, Kinder Institute for Urban Research at Rice University

Biography

Dan Potter directs the survey work for the Houston Population Research Center at the Kinder Institute for Urban Research at Rice University. This includes overseeing the Greater Houston Community Panel (GHCP), a longitudinal study of nearly 10,000 adults in Fort Bend, Harris, and Montgomery counties. The GHCP also includes the Kinder Houston Area Survey, which is the longest-running survey of any major metropolitan area in the country. Dan earned his Ph.D. in sociology from the University of Virginia.